Tara McKenzie Sandercock is Vice-President, Grants and Initiatives for the Community Foundation of Greater Greensboro. Since 1997, she has provided leadership for the Foundation's grantmaking programs, funding collaboratives, and community initiatives.

Prior to joining the Foundation, Tara served as director of education for the Council on Foundations in Washington, DC. Her previous posts also include Director of Program Development for the national Center for Early Adolescence at UNC - Chapel Hill. She holds a B.S. from Davis & Elkins College and her M.A. from UNC-CH.

Tara's work includes leadership in strategic planning and professional group facilitation, and she recently completed the Grove International training in graphic facilitation. In June 2007, Tara was presented with the Humanitarian Award from the North Carolina African Services Coalition for service to immigrants and refugees.

Tara serves on national and local boards and committees including: Hispanics in Philanthropy, Hebron USA (supporting humanitarian work in Chiapas, Mexico), Center for New North Carolinians, Guilford County Partnership for Children, PTSA, and Country Park Neighborhood Association. She is a Presbyterian elder of Guilford Park Presbyterian Church. She is happily married to Steve Sandercock and is the proud mom of Jeremy.
